The linen care book

LINEN

It is a fibre that comes straight from nature, which is why the fabrics are likely to have small irregularities and imperfections.

In fact, linen is said to be a "noble" fabric because it does not hide its 100% natural origin, and its irregularities make it unique.

Furthermore, it withstands frequent washing and is a hypoallergenic fabric - it does not irritate or cause allergies, making it ideal for contact with the skin.

Water, soap, light, heat, and human contact will help the textile to acquire better properties over time. The fibres will slowly change in colour and feel gradually becoming softer and softer.

At from:BEA we choose linen to make our products because it is a high quality fabric and its cultivation process is highly sustainable; it is grown organically, free of pesticides and fertilisers and needs very little water.

It is also very strong and durable and as it has very little elasticity the products retain their shape. It is a cool, light fabric with an incredible drape! Perfect for tableware.

Our flax grows throughout Normandy, northern France. It needs a mild climate combining sun, rain, and wind.

WASHING

This product has been previously washed.

Wash at 30°

Use anti-stain COLOUR treatments, if necessary, strictly following the times indicated by the treatment manufacturer otherwise it will burn the fabric.

Never use bleach, it weakens the fibres and affects the colour. Using a little fabric softener will help significantly when ironing.

Avoid putting folded products in the washing machine.

. For best results, wash linen products separately from the rest of the laundry and do not overload the washing machine.

Washing Tips

In case of heavy stains, we recommend using "Lagarto" Soap on the affected area.

Then immediately put it in the washing machine.

DRYING

When you take it out of the washing machine, the cotton thread may have shrunk a little. This is perfectly normal; it will return to its normal form once it is dry and ironed.

If you have a tablecloth, we recommend folding it in half lengthwise, stretching it out to avoid creases in the middle and hanging it up over the centre (without clothes pegs to avoid marks) or laying it flat to dry, well stretched out to avoid creases.

IRONING

For a starched effect, iron when it is still slightly damp, they look amazing!

If you have an embroidered design, we recommend ironing first on the reverse side at medium heat and if you do so with a towel underneath, even better!

Ironing Tips

If you're in a hurry to dry your napkins or placemats, when you take them out of the washing machine, shake them out to remove the excess water and spread them out on a thick cotton towel to soak up the moisture.

Now iron without steam at medium heat; you'll see how quickly they dry!
